

WHAT'S NEW / NEXT IN ST. PETERSBURG

Hello and Welcome to W ST. PETERSBURG. Get ready for the great month! For November Insider Guide we made a review of the coolest places and events that are worth going to.

4 November

The 3rd floor of the DLT department store

From 6 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Dolce & Gabbana are tolerant not only to age, physique and nationality of their customers but to the possibility of being unique. The brand will open a pop-up sneakers studio in St Petersburg where the customers are allowed to design their own shoes and T-shirts

The restyling of shoes and clothes will be accompanied by champagne splashes and a DJ-set.

From 7p.m. to 11p.m., starting every 15 minutes

On the weekend of the 4th and 5th of November the Festival of Light will be back in St. Petersburg. This time the event will take place at both Petrogradskaya embankment and the Palace square.

The facades of the Winter Palace and the General Staff Buliding will be lit by a 3D-performance with the use of videomapping technology, laser and pyrotechnic effects. It will have everything that is close to any city resident: bridges, lions and sphynxes, "draw-well" backyards, the white nights and all other symbols of the Northern Capital.

The Faberge Museum

From 10 a.m. to 8.45 p.m.

A collection of paintings by the leading artists of the Paris School of the 1st third of the 20th century will be brought to St. Petersburg in November. Its founder, Jonas Netter, was not merely a collector, but a guardian angel of the paintings and their authors. He has collected works of the best representatives of the period: Amedeo Modigliani, Chaim Soutine, Maurice Utrillo and the likes of Moses Kisling, Andre Derain, Suzanne Valadon and many more.
